Every year we do our best to ensure that the Evolution Festival offers professional facilities and background as well as pleasant and kind atmosphere. We wish the Evolution Festival became a place of mutual inspiration, meetings, and recharging the right energy. This year has been the most successful of all in the festival's thirteen-year history; both as far as the final numbers and as far as the feedback of visitors and exhibitors are concerned. I would like to thank you all for contributing to the success of the festival – exhibitors, lecturers, partners, visitors, and my colleagues. The rising importance and prestige of the festival challenge us and motivate us for the future, and inspire our growth. I look forward to planting a seed in our heads in 2017 again...
